All investments, including those in mutual funds, have risks and principal loss is possible.

Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect from loss in a declining market.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. The portion of the Fund that invests in underlying ETF's that track the Index will be subject to certain risks which are unique to tracking the Index. By investing in ETF's, you will indirectly bear your share of any fees and expenses charged by the underlying funds, in addition to indirectly bearing the principal risks of the funds. The Fund may make short-term investments, without limitation, for defensive purposes, which investments may provide lower returns than other types of investments.

Standard and Poor's 500® Index is a capitalization-weighted index of 500 stocks. This unmanaged index is designed to measure performance of the broad domestic economy through changes in the aggregate market value of 500 stocks representing all major industries. The index was developed with a base level of 10 for the 1941-43 base period. You cannot invest directly in an index.

The fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. Read it carefully before investing.

Alpha compares risk-adjusted performance relative to an index. Positive alpha means outperformance on a risk-adjusted basis. Beta measures the volatility of a security or portfolio relative to an index. Less than one means lower volatility than the index; more than one means greater volatility. R-squared (R²) measures the relationship between portfolio and index performance on a scale of 0.00 (0%) to 1.00 (100%). A higher R² indicates more of the portfolio's performance is affected by market movements and vice versa. Price-to-Earnings (P/E) is calculated by dividing the current price of a stock by the company's trailing 12 months' earnings per share.

While the fund is no-load, management and other expenses still apply. Please refer to the prospectus for further details.

Our Philosophy

The Monetta Core Growth Fund's "half active/half passive" investment approach is the result of our many years of observing what investment strategies potentially work and what doesn't over time. Our philosophy incorporates insights from the following well-known investors:

John Bogle: "On average, an astonishing 90% of actively managed funds underperform their benchmark indexes over the preceding 15 years (2001-2016)." Approximately 50% of the Fund's portfolio will track the performance of the S&P 500 Index.

Bogle, John C. The Little Book of Common Sense Investing: the Only Way to Guarantee Your Fair Share of Stock... Market Returns. John Wiley, 2017, p. 33.

Warren Buffett: "Best returns are achieved by companies that have been producing the same product or service for several years." The Monetta Core Growth Fund emphasizes high-quality growth companies with a competitive edge.

Hagstrom, Robert G. The Warren Buffet Way: Third Edition. John Wiley, 2014, p. 78.

Gerald M. Loeb: "It is more likely to pay off to buy companies at a seemingly high price...than to attempt to discover when a declining situation will turn around." The Fund's basic investment strategy is to buy high and sell higher.

Loeb, Gerald M. The Battle for Investment Survival. John Wiley, 2007, p. 227.

Peter Lynch: "Never invest in any idea you can't illustrate with a crayon...invest in companies you understand." Our Fund tends to have a bias to invest in quality, household names with proven/experienced management teams and strong growth prospects.

James O'Shaughnessy: "Market-leading firms are considerably less volatile than the market as a whole...Relative strength is a much better indicator of a company prospects than factors such as earnings growth rates." The Monetta Core Growth Fund seeks companies with improving relative strength relative to its sector and overall market.
